THE PLUCKY JAPS

Badly Defeat the Enemy

IN TWO GREAT LAND BATTLES

Trouble is Likely to Arise Between Russia and Great Britain, Russia Acting as if Inviting Trouble

JAPS WIN IN LAND BATTLE.

Tokio, July 22nd.—A despatch to the Central News from Tokio says there is reason to believe that a severe fight lasting all day occurred on July 21st at Kai-Tou, north of Mao Tien Pass.

Another despatch to the Central News from Tokio says that a telegram from the front announces the engagement at the Mao Tien pass was precipitated by the Russians who attacked the Japanese position at Schlayen, westward of Kai-Tou. After severe fighting the Russians were repulsed. The Japanese casualties were over 100, the Russian losses being heavy.

MOVEMENTS OF THE BRITISH FLEET.

Alexandria, July 22nd.—The British Mediterranean fleet has arrived. The British cruiser Venus which arrived yesterday sailed to-day. Her destination was not given.

JAPS MARCHING ON NEW CHWANG.

New Chwang, July 21st. (midnight).—Quite an excitement has been created here by the report that the Japanese are advancing in this direction and are at Tan-Hing-Chan, which is twelve miles distant. Yesterday heavy firing was heard here for a short time not far away. There are few Russian troops now in this place.

RUSSIA IN NO HURRY TO RELEASE VESSEL.

London, July 22nd.—In accordance with instructions from the Foreign Minister Lansdowne, Count Beckendorff, the Russian Ambassador to Great Britain, has informed the Foreign Secretary Lord Lansdowne, that immediately upon establishing the presence of the broad arrow, the British Government mark upon the munitions on board the seized steamer Malacca, and on account of the fact that no other cargo of contraband character is on board that vessel, she will at once be released. In response to this notification Lord Lansdowne assured Count Beckendorff that all the boxes marked with a broad arrow were the property of the British Government and stated that he had been informed by the Peninsular and Oriental Company (the owners of the Malacca), that there was no contraband on board, a statement which the British Government accepted because of the standing of the company. Russia is now availing verification of the company's statement.

BREACH OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

Constantinople, July 22nd.—The passage of the Russian volunteer fleet steamers through the Dardanelles under a commercial flag is considered here to be a violation of international law rendering vessels liable to be regarded as prizes. It is thought that the British Mediterranean fleet will intercept the Malacca. No further steamers have traversed the straits since the Smolensk and it is believed that Great Britain will protest against further passage of the Dardanelles by Russian steamers unless the Government promises that the vessels are not destined to act as cruisers.

JAPS WIN A GREAT LAND BATTLE.

Tokio, July 22nd.—Gen. Kuraki, after a severe fight occupied Kiao Tung on July 19th. The place had been fortified by the Russians, who defended it stoutly. In the fighting General Kuraki's troops drove the Russians from their stronger fortified position on the Oh river, which is northwest of Mao Tien pass and east of An King inflicting on the enemy more serious loss than they sustained themselves. The fight began on July 18th and ended on July 19th.

THE RIVAL LOSSES.

The Japanese lost 421 men in killed and wounded. The Russian loss is estimated at one thousand.

STORY OF THE FIGHT.

Gen. Kuraki began this advance early in the morning of July 18th. Then he discovered and followed the enemy along the Oh river. The Russians seemed to be retreating to the northwest when suddenly two battalions with eight guns turned and attacked the Japanese advance guard vigorously. At this point the Japanese suffered much until relief came, one company losing all its officers.

The final successful charge was delivered at 5.30 in the afternoon. The Japanese artillery cut off the Russian retreat and this soon became a rout. The enemy went in two directions to the northward and westward.

The Russian forces engaged included, in addition to the artillery, seven battalions of infantry and a regiment of Cossacks. The enemy left 131 dead and three hundred rifles on the field and the prisoners taken estimated the Russian losses at 1000 in killed and wounded and missing. The Japanese lost one officer and fifty-four men killed and 11 officers and 550 men wounded.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN DEFEAT.

On July 19th the Japanese forces attacked a battalion of infantry and one thousand cavalry who occupied the Ultau to the north of Suikentsze. After 4 hours of fighting the Russians retired across the Taitzu river.

IN THIS ENGAGEMENT THE JAPANESE HAD SEVEN DEAD.

TO REINFORCE THEIR ARMY.
Liao Yang, July 22nd.—According to private advices the Japanese are concentrating two divisions near Kai Chou in order to reinforce their army in front of Port Arthur.

London, July 22nd.—The Hamburg American liner Scandia captured by the Russians arrived at Suez Canal this morning. The Vladivostok squadron was seen off the Japanese coast this morning.

WAR NOTES.

London, July 20th.—In British official circles the recent seizures and overhauling of British ships in the Red Sea by the Russian volunteer fleet steamers Smolensk and St. Petersburg, are regarded as very grave international incidents. The seizure of the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Malacca by the St. Petersburg and the arrival in the Suez Canal as a prize of war on her way to Libau, on the Baltic, has come to a climax, and the Cabinet to-day is considering the course to pursue. The British law officers acknowledge the right of the Russians to seize and detain mails provided that only official communications are taken, but they take the most serious view of the status of the two Russian ships patrolling the Red Sea, and if any official action or protest ensues it will be chiefly in regard to the passing of these erstwhile merchant ships through the Dardanelles and their subsequent transformation into ships of war.

In official circles strong comment is made in regard to Russia's policy in this matter. It is regarded as impossible that the commanders of the Smolensk and St. Petersburg were given full power and the officials therefore, are inclined to the grave conclusion that the Russian government gave implicit instructions to the two commanders.

The effect on the stock exchange to-day was seen in a heavy fall in consols and other gilt edged securities on fears of international complication. The dangers and difficulties of the situation are much commented upon in the newspapers, which are practically unanimous in denouncing the "dubious and irregular character" of the volunteer fleet vessels.

"If their actions are proved, as we believe to be those of vulgar filibusters," says the St. James Gazette, they must be regarded by Russia or the skull and cross bones must be run up and they will be fired upon whenever sighted."

Another element adding to the dangers of the situation is the attitude Japan may assume. The Pall Mall Gazette points out that if as stated in dispatches from Constantinople the Russian gunship Chernomorsk's traversing the straits fully armed, it would seem to justify Japan in regarding Turkey as an ally of Russia and invoking the terms of the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

ADRIFT ON THE OCEAN

Tribune:

A distressing story of the sea was told at Grimsby when the Danish steamer Urania landed ten sailors the sole survivors of a crew of 17, who left Tonsburg, Norway, in the barque, Prince Eugene last April, bound for Canada.

The Prince Eugene was a 1300 ton vessel and was in ballast, and sprang a leak, which so gained on the pumps that on June 6th Captain Christensen gave the order to take to the boats. The longboat was smashed in the effort to float her, and three men narrowly escaped being drowned. Eventually all got away, the captain and ten men in the lifeboat, and the mate, carpenter and five men in the dinghy.

Sail was hoisted and the two boats headed N.E. in the hope of striking the track of the North Atlantic trading vessels. When it was too late to return to the Prince Eugene it was discovered that in the haste an insufficient quantity of water had been secured, and as time advanced the sailors' sufferings were terrible. For eight days and nights the boats sailed, the men almost dying for water. To add to their troubles the lifeboat commenced to leak, and they sat up to their waist in salt water, taking it in turn to bale with a bucket, while the remainder scooped out water with their hands.

During the fourth night the wind rose and a gale sprang up. In the morning, when those aboard the lifeboat looked for the dinghy, it was nowhere to be seen and they were reluctantly forced to believe that it had not weathered the storm and had gone down with its seven hands. The mate and the carpenter in her were married and all the men were Norwegians.

For five more days the crew, enduring terrible agonies from thirst and salt water exposure, continued to drift. The track of the trading steamer was neared after 100 miles of sailing, accomplished in eight days. About midnight on the tenth day the steamer's lights were seen, and, promising a star which he had dried for the sun during the day, he managed to light it. With a bright blue flame it burned, and to the inexpressible joy of the men, answering flares burst forth from the steamer. The seamen sobbed with joy when the steamer, Urania, splendidly handled, bore down to them, giving them the shelter of her lee.

The ship's boy, overcome with joy, stepped on to the lifeboat's bulwark to leap aboard the steamer, but so weak was he that he fell into the sea. His act had been seen by Captain Tensen of the Urania, and with bravery beyond all praise, he leaped from his bridge and dived for the lad. He failed to reach him, but coming to the surface, dived again, and clutched the lad's shirt and held him afloat, while his chief officer dragged them both exhausted from the water. On board the Urania six of the men collapsed as soon as they reached the deck, and the ship's doctor, stripping them, found them to be one mass of frost-bite from the waist downwards. They were treated, and the vessel being bound for Grimsby, all speed was made for port which was reached on Wednesday evening.

Two of the men were so much recovered as to be able to walk. The other four were at once hurried to the hospital, where they are in a critical condition, due to the terrible exposure. Of the ten men landed, the captain, the sailmaker and Second Mate Moller are married. The others are mostly single young seamen. Eight of the ten are Norwegians, and the others Danes.

Western News

The Saskatchewan Herald, Battleford, is fearful lest the C.N.R. and G.T.P. will both pass by Battleford with their main lines. Recently a delegation was sent to Ottawa to press the town's needs. The Herald says: "A good sized audience turned out Thursday evening last to hear the report of the Railway committee. The latter showed that the committee had devoted a considerable amount of time and trouble to striving to obtain railway communication for the town, but so far it does not appear that their efforts will be crowned with success. The Minister of the Interior has finally answered that there is not much chance of the location of the C.N.R. being changed and notwithstanding definite promises that the G.T.P. will come into the town the surveyors are working about sixty miles south of the town."

Saskatchewan Herald, Battleford, July 18th.—The town was taken by surprise on Tuesday morning when it became known that Dr. McLaughlin had died at 8:30 a.m. The doctor had been in poor health for some time, the result of his trip to Lake Cross in connection with the supposed smallpox epidemic last winter. Dr. McLaughlin moved here from Owen Sound a little over a year ago and located near Goose Lake, on the north side of the Saskatchewan, but was unfortunately burnt out, losing all his books and instruments. Dr. McLaughlin was 51 years old and leaves a widow and a family of six children. The funeral takes place this afternoon to the Presbyterian cemetery.

Capt. Coates' new steamer which is being built at Prince Albert is drawing near completion. The boiler is expected any day, and when it arrives, it is only a small matter to set it in place and connect it. This done, the "Alberta" will be ready for her maiden voyage.

Prince Albert Advertiser: The Hudson's Bay Co.'s new steamer "Saskatchewan" took a trial run up the river on Saturday night last. She shows excellent speed and is a decided acquisition to the business interests of the company.

It is stated that hail did considerable damage to crops in the neighborhood of High River, Southern Alberta, last week.

Commercial: The Winnipeg demand for good butcher cattle remains fairly strong, but half fat grades are coming forward and are hard to sell. Export cattle the season has opened up, and shipments will move freely from now on. The first train having passed east from Calgary. The market continues strong in Great Britain, and we look for good, healthy cattle all through the season on account of the shortage of home-fatted cattle. If supplies start a still further advance will take place. We are trying orders coming forward from British dealers and enquirers from export firms so that the trade may have a good healthy supply for the season.

PARLIAMENT

Ottawa Correspondence:

McLean's Railway Amendments

The discussion of the government amendments to the Railway Act yesterday gave W. F. McLean, Conservative M.P. of East York, and proprietor of the Toronto World, an opportunity to bring before parliament a number of amendments which he declared to have made to the same Act. The discussion of these amendments occupied the greater part of the three sittings of the day.

As to Express Companies

Mr. McLean's first proposition was that express companies should be brought under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission because their business was transacted over the railways and as a matter of fact their stock was held by the railway companies.

In opposition to this contention it was stated by the Minister of Justice that as express companies operated over steamboat and stage lines as well as over railways, it would not be possible for the commission to control them without a special addition to the Railway Act. It was further contended that as the express business was carried on under an agreement between the railway and express companies it was not proper for parliament to legislate away the rights established under this agreement. This view was chiefly taken by the members of the legal profession who took part in the debate, while the opposite was generally held by members representing interests directly affected by the operations of the express companies.

As to Powers of Chairman of Railway Commission

His second proposal was to change the provision of the Railway Act which gives the chairman of the Railway Commission power to over-rule his colleagues on points of law. This also developed into a discussion between the legal and non-legal members of the House.

The Bell Telephone Monopoly

His third proposition was to invalidate the agreement between the C. P. R. and the Bell Telephone Company, by which that company has exclusive right of entry to C. P. R. stations. The instance which was made the basis of argument was that of the towns of Port Arthur and Fort William, which operate a municipal telephone system and were refused access to the C. P. R. station at Port William, because the Bell Company, which operated a small and inefficient system of its own, had this exclusive agreement with the railway company. The towns applied to the Railway Commission for an order permitting them to place a phone in the railway station. They were granted the right subject to payment of cost of installation and operation to the C.P.R., and damages to the Bell Telephone Company for the breaking of its agreement with the railway company. The Bell company claimed that the agreement was worth many thousands of dollars a year. The position was, therefore, that in order for the towns to get access to the station they would have to pay this amount of damages, which, of course, prevented their getting the access to which the Act said they were entitled.

Mr. McLean wanted a declaration in the Railway Act that the Bell company was not entitled to damages for the breaking of this agreement, hold it to be illegal because in restraint of trade and an infringement upon the rights of the public.

The Minister of Justice admitted the wrong to the public but held that the contract between the two companies must be respected. Again the division of opinion was between lawyers and laymen: the former upholding what they called the sanctity of contract, while the latter stood for what Mr. McLean called the sanctity of public right.

Although the amendment was declared lost, it seemed probable that as a result of the discussion which demonstrated very clearly the injustice done by the agreement in question and the fact that it rendered invalid the intention of parliament, expressed in the Railway Act, an amendment will be made to the Act that will meet the case.

A Graded Railway Passenger Rate

His next proposal was for a railway passenger rate based on the earnings of the railway companies. A railway which earns so many thousand dollars per mile per year must give a 2 1-2c rate, and a railway which earned $3,000 per mile per year must give a 2c rate. In support of his proposition, Mr. McLean contended that this was the law of Michigan and that the greater part of the passenger traffic of New York state was also carried on at a 2c rate.

The Minister of Justice showed that the law regarding the 2c rate only applied to some 350 miles of railway in Michigan and that the law regarding the 2c rate in New York State was passed forty years ago in the hope of crippling the railway which competed with the state-owned Erie Canal.

Henderson, Conservative, of Halton, said that he was in favor of a 2c rate but did not think Mr. McLean's proposal would attain that object very quickly. He gave figures to show that if the present earnings of the C.P.R. increased at the rate of the past eight years, a 2c rate would be arrived at, under Mr. McLean's proposals, in fifteen years; on the Grand Trunk it would be arrived at in nine years. He hoped to get a 2c rate from the Railway Commission for those parts of the different railway systems where the population was largest, and preferred to wait action by the commission for a year or two at least, before committing himself to Mr. McLean's proposal, which would definitely postpone a 2c rate for so many years.

Mr. McLean said that under his proposal a 2 1-2c rate would be effective now on the Grand Trunk and C. P. R.

Mr. Henderson replied that a 2 1-2c rate was effective now on both these railroads throughout the eastern provinces on return tickets and on thousand mile books.

The trend of the debate indicated a general impression that while rates should be reduced where population was dense they should not be reduced, or might even be increased, in proportion to sparseness of population.

Sunday Observance and other Amendments

The government amendments were then taken up. One of these provided that provincial Sunday observance laws should apply to provincially chartered railways; another enables the commissioners to ascertain the net earnings of the eastern section of the Grand Trunk Pacific; another provides that the majority of the directors of all railways holding federal charters shall be British subjects. Existing railways have until 1905 to comply with the law in that respect.

The Macoun Report Agreed to

The Macoun investigation came to a close before the Agricultural Committee this morning. The report of the sub-committee appointed to consider the evidence of Mr. Macoun condemned his report; in the first place, as being based on insufficient information, and in the next place, as not being in accordance with the facts within Mr. Macoun's knowledge. This was, of course, a straight condemnation of Mr. Macoun and destroyed the value as a political weapon of his attack upon the capabilities of the Peace River country.

Stormy Meetings

The first meeting of the committee, at which the report was presented, was very stormy. The Conservative members who had upheld Mr. Macoun during the whole taking of his evidence and attempted by bullying, interruption and obstruction to prevent the facts from being brought out, rallied in full force; but were not strong enough to defeat the report, and in the face of its tenor did not dare to take the position of directly endorsing Macoun's condemnation of the country. They were mad, very mad, and did not know exactly what to do about it.

Messrs. Cochrane and Blaine vented their spite on the chairman, whose rulings they point-blank refused to obey, and of whose action as chairman they expressed themselves in unmeasured terms of denunciation. They also paid their respects to the Northwest members, and succeeded in talking out the time of the committee, which was limited by the opening of the House at 11 o'clock.

Their attitude and the nature of their remarks may be judged by the following extract from the report of the Ottawa Free Press of the proceedings:—

Mr. Cochrane (Northumberland) later on attacked the members for Manitoba and the Northwest, stating that they made themselves a nuisance and wanted everything their own way. The western people would not pay for anything; they would not pay their taxes, the east had to foot the bill, and still the western members wanted to come down here and run everything and everybody. The west were a greedy outfit. Turning towards Mr. Wade, Mr. Cochrane said: "It is fools like you who obstruct the progress of business." After some further talk the time of adjournment came before the report was adopted.

The Sergeant-at-arms present to Keep Order

At yesterday's sitting the chairman took the precaution of having a sergeant-at-arms present, with the result that the procedure was very much more orderly, but the obstruction was just as determined, and again the time was talked out. The intention of the opposition to obstruct the passage of the report being so apparent, and the possibility being within their reach because of the short time permitted to the sittings of the committee because of the early opening of the House, the chairman asked leave of the House for the committee to sit while the House was in session. This privilege, if accorded, would make it practically impossible for them to talk out the report. The permission was not accorded at the time, but the Premier said that if after another meeting of the committee it became evident that a conclusion could be reached on page 6.

ENTERPRISING EDMONTON

Under the above heading the following article appears in the recent special issue of the Winnipeg Commercial:

There is no place in the west that surprises and pleases the stranger more than Edmonton with its beautiful location overlooking the flat which extends across the river to the east some two hundred feet below the level of the town with the river winding past and whose banks on the opposite side slope gradually back and are thickly covered with poplar and spruce. On the flat below the town are the brick-yards, pork packing establishments, sawmill, flour mill and elevators, brewery, electric light station and waterworks plant, the exhibition grounds, buildings and race track, which is said to be one of the best in Canada, the E. Y. & P. railway station, the Edmonton hotel, an old historic place, but greatly enlarged and improved of late. The whole flat will soon be covered with buildings.

Our town with its substantial red brick business blocks and fine residences, the busy streets and general activity and progress that is apparent to the most unobservant impresses one and all with the fact that its citizens must have unbounded faith in the future of the town and that Edmonton must be the center of a rich agricultural district to display such faith and enterprise.

Such is the case, however, and fully accounts for the town making such rapid progress without government favors or patronage and without the all powerful aid of railways which can do so much and has for other places in the west.

Edmonton is under few obligations to the government and owes the C.P.R. nothing. The town is a monument to the foresight and enterprise of its citizens and a practical endorsement of the Edmonton district which has more to make the Northwest famous as a desirable home for the enterprising and industrious settler than any other section of the west.

Building operations are very brisk here this season and some splendid buildings that would be a credit to any place are now under course of construction. Amongst others might be mentioned the following: Revillon Bros., L.L., a solid brick block 200 by 150, six stories; the Hudson Bay Co., 103x100, three stories; McDougall & Secord, 75x100, three stories. The latter building will be occupied by the Bank of Nova Scotia and McIntosh & Campbell, furniture dealers. The Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Bank of Commerce are also erecting two fine blocks for their own use, each of which will cost about $35,000 or $40,000. Another new public school is being built that will cost about $35,000. All these buildings are solid brick with cut stone facings. The Alberta College, under the auspices of the Methodist church, which opened out here as a venture last August in rented quarters, having met with such encouragement and success that the managers feel justified in erecting a suitable college building for permanent quarters. The work has already been commenced and it is expected that the building will be completed early this fall. The residential portion of the town is building up very rapidly and some very fine homes are being built, costing from $3,000 to $10,000 each. It is astonishing the rapidity with which the town is spreading out and building up.

There is no boom on, nothing being bought sold, or done on speculation. There is not a vacant business building or dwelling house in the town, all are occupied and more wanted.

In the country things look very promising, the spring opened out early and the weather was all that could be desired, the crops are looking splendid and the prospects were never better. As an evidence of the hopeful feeling amongst the farmers and to show how the country is filling up I might mention that the general manager of the International Harvester Co. tells me that he has sold 1,500 binders, mowers and rakes this season (not including Strathcona district). The American machinery is following the American settlers. Then again, there is the output of the Massey-Harris Co. and the Frost & Wood Co. This is an enormous quantity and no better evidence is required to convince one of the suitability of the Edmonton district for the agriculturalist and the bright prospects for this season.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wishes to take this opportunity of expressing his heartfelt thanks to his numerous friends for their kindly sympathy at the recent death of his son.

A. LEHMAN.

Western News

The appointment of Rev. Mr. George of Lacombe, as rector of Holy Trinity church of Strathcona, has been ratified by Bishop Pinkman and Mr. George will begin his pastoral duties next month. In the meantime Rev. Mr. Card will conduct the regular services of the church.

The Wetaskiwin Times states that the hay crop in that district promises to be the best in several years. During the past few weeks the grass has made a very rapid growth, and the dry weather will admit of the cutting of many of the low sloughs which have not been cut the past two or three years.

Plainsdealer: Some changes have recently been made in the staff of the Immigration Department at Strathcona. Mr. Malcolm McIntyre, customs officer, has had added to his duties those of Assistant Immigration Agent and has his office with Mr. Bennett. Mr. Joseph Portias has been appointed caretaker of the immigration hall and resides there.

Innisfail Free Lance: As the result of the visit of Mr. J. W. Brooks and party, of North Dakota, to the Innisfail district last week, twelve homesteads have been already located fifteen miles west of town. This party is the advance guard of something like 150 families who will all locate in the neighborhood where these homesteads have been taken. Mr. Brooks and party have been all over the C. & E. line looking for a satisfactory location and being convinced of the superiority of this district, have decided to locate the colony here. Mr. Brooks will bring another party along in a few weeks and these will be followed at intervals by varying numbers until all are settled.

Medicine Hat News: Saturday's rain brightened up the crops in this district and has done good to the prairie grasses and the root crops. Such grain as had matured well and was in the head has been helped. It is wonderful the difference a good soaking rain makes.

Indian Head Vidette: A most unfortunate accident occurred in the C. P. R. yards here on Monday. Philip West, a young Englishman, who has been working for G. B. Anderson, was on the top of a boxcar loading on racing material for the Winnipeg exhibition, when an engine which was shunting at the time ran into the car throwing West on the rails. He was pushed along the rails for a few feet and was saved from being run over by the plucky action of two little boys, Arthur Spence and Gibson Scott, who showed wonderful presence of mind in pulling the victim from under the wheels. He was carried to the Victoria hotel, where after examination by Drs. Kemp and Harvey he was found to be hopelessly smashed about the hips. He died during the afternoon and was buried on Tuesday evening. Though the unfortunate man had no relatives here, he was attended with all possible care and the last sad services were rendered by many kindly citizens of the Head. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. M. M. Bennett.

The week ending July 16th was a record smasher in the Innisfail creamery. The output for the week was 3,519 pounds. This week's output will be even greater.

MEN OUT AGAIN

Over Feeding Horses

Nor. West Farmer.
It is perfectly safe to assert that thousands of work horses are injured by kindness. The owner thinks that because his team is hard worked it ought to be heavily fed, but he forgets that it is not what a horse eats, but what it digests that counts. This is especially the case in summer, when there is much field work to be done and little time in which to do it.

The horse hurries home, hot and weary, is given all he can "hog," and goes out to the water trough, where he fills up on water and goes on to work again. First of all, his stomach was not in fit condition for food reception. The fatigued, hot, sweaty horse cannot digest food. He needs a rest first and then a drink of water, which passes through his stomach and stays in the large intestines. If the first eats grain and then drinks water, the food passes to the small and large intestines in which such food is not digested, but decomposes, gives up gas and thus sets up more or less disturbance and distress.

Under these circumstances a horse is not properly fed just because he has been furnished with six quarts of oats and all the hay he can gobble in the short interim of the noon hour.

He has been fed, to be sure, but he has derived little benefit from his food. All the benefit derived comes from the portion of the food digested, and that is very small when there is not sufficient time first to masticate properly and then digest normally.

In the busy season the work horse should have small amounts of concentrated, nutritious food—just such an amount as he can masticate and digest. When corn is fed it adds fuel to the heat of his body and does not supply the strength and vigor he most requires. That comes from oats, and time is needed for their mastication.

Hay is unnecessary and actually injurious when fed at noon. It is not digested while the horse is at work. It does not remain in the stomach, but the water passes through into the large intestines, where it lies inert or decomposing until a period of rest promotes the normal process of digestion.

On general principles it will pay to cut in half the ration now being fed to work horses, provided they are given little time to masticate and digest their food. This will be found found remedial where horses are evidently ill; poorly, slow a big too much when at work, or having a tendency to diarrhoea. They will do better on less food for the reason that they digest a greater proportion of its nutrients.

Hay in summer time should only be fed very early in the morning, and again at night, at which time the horse may have all he wants. Allow the drinking water before meals.

PARLIAMENT

sion could not be reached, parliament would have to consider the grant of the privilege.

The Closing Scene

When the forces were rallied this morning the Opposition members had reached the conclusion that the report of the sub-committee must be adopted. The report of the sub-committee was finally adopted by the Committee by a counted vote and with a majority of 7 in a rather slim attendance. This takes the matter out of the hands of the Agricultural Committee and its next stage will be its appearance before the House.

This report has been delayed so long that people not interested in the proceedings may have forgotten what the occasion of the difficulty was.

Story of the Case

When the Grand Trunk Pacific project took shape it was generally understood that the new road would be so located as to develop the Peace river country lying northwest of Edmonton; of which the reports of numerous officials of the Government of high standing made in past years had always been eminently favorable. The distance from Edmonton to the mountains by way of Peace river is about 400 miles, and upon the agricultural value of that region a considerable part of the merit of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme depended.

In the spring of 1903, J. M. Macoun, botanist, in the employ of the Geological Survey Department, was sent to Peace river to report upon the country. He was there for three months during last summer, and on his return, in the public press and afterwards in his printed report, condemned the country for agriculture and for stock-raising.

His report was published about the time Parliament opened. The amended Grand Trunk Pacific contract was up for consideration. The Opposition were opposing the contract by every means in their power, and it struck some of their wise heads that when Mr. Macoun's official report was so unfavorable, showing a pronounced bias against the country, if he were brought before the Agricultural Committee he might be expected to condemn it in still more unmeasured terms. This would be valuable campaign literature in arguing the case which the Opposition desired to make against the Grand Trunk Pacific in the elections, when they should take place.

People in the North West may find it hard to understand how any political profit could be made by decrying any part of the western country; but the facts are that all news not only travels fast and far but is more readily listened to than good news; and in the campaign against the railway that is being kept up by the Opposition the feature of immense cost and little value is its strong point. Here was an opportunity to prove the little value of an immense area—that is, prove it sufficiently for campaign purposes.

Mr. Macoun was brought before the Committee and did not disappoint his friends. He condemned the country as unsuited for agriculture and still less suited for stock raising. He condemned its soil and its climate and declared that because of its altitude and latitude the climatic conditions could not be improved by settlement. Such a statement not only condemned the Peace river country but reflected upon other parts of the North West, and especially upon the Edmonton district which adjoins the Peace river country and is almost on the same latitude and at a higher altitude.

The western members protested against Mr. Macoun's conclusions as not being warranted by the facts stated, judging by comparison between the conditions existing on other parts of the Territories and in the Peace river.

This would seem to be a very moderate statement and well within the duties of the members from the West, but it countered the political plans which the Opposition members had in view in bringing Mr. Macoun before the Committee, and at once they assumed the attitude of bullying and obstruction to prevent the continuation of the examination of Mr. Macoun with a view to showing that his conclusions were not warranted by his facts.

It would be useless to recount the proceedings of the following sittings of the Agricultural Committee, but it is hardly necessary to say that the tactics of the Opposition members were not effective.

The cross-examination of Mr. Macoun took place with such result that the sub-committee, appointed to report upon the evidence, was able to report in the exact words of the western members expressed on the first day of the examination, that his conclusions were not warranted by facts.

The occasion was one in which the interests of the North West were being sacrificed for party advantage by members of the Opposition, and they did not take kindly to the failure of the attempt. That it failed was not any fault of theirs, but because, determined as they were, they had to deal with men who were just as determined as themselves. Instead of their efforts resulting in the discrediting of the Peace river country the attention which has been drawn to it, because of their opposition, will be to its benefit. And the adverse report of Mr. Macoun has been officially and absolutely discredited.

The Business Man

Though swift his business keeps bringing in wealth, He groans, "What's the use, for I've now lost my health. My friends were more careful, Abbey's Salt took each day, And they are still young, while I'm old and gray."

When success depends on health, one can't afford to take risks with his digestive organs. A man can't think of business and biliousness together. Many a serious error in judgement has been made because the brain has been befogged by an upset stomach or a torpid liver.

ABBEY'S SALT, taken in the morning keeps the blood cool, sends the business man to his office with active brain—and the mental and physical power to grasp every problem.

The Canadian Northwest Homestead Regulations

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, excepting 8 and 16, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age to the extent of one quarter section, of 130 acres, more or less.

ENTRY.—Entry may be made per district in which the land to be taken is situated, or, if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him. A fee of $10.00 is charged for a homestead entry.

HOMESTEAD DUTIES.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required by the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act and the amendments thereto, to perform the conditions connected therewith, under one of the following upon cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years:

(1) At least six months' residence years.
(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, reside upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If a settler has obtained a patent for his homestead, or a certificate for the issue of such patent, countersigned in the manner prescribed by this Act, and has obtained entry for a second homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by residence upon the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead.

(4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering township.

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clauses 2, 3, or 4, must possess one square of land, and must have besides 30 acres substandard.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be again thrown open for entry.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the local agent, sub-agent, or Homestead Inspector. Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Information.—Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office, in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Land Office, in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories, information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing land to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba, or to any of the Dominion Land Agents in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

JAMES A. SMART,

Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—In addition to Free Grant Lands to which the regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from the railroad and other corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

—Plaindealer: J. E. Smith and A. McIntyre of the Strawberry Creek district were in town this week on business. They report everything lovely in that thriving new settlement. That is the country flowing with strawberry juice and everybody's boots are red with it. All they want out there is roads and they are helping themselves as much as possible along that line and looking for a government grant to supplement their efforts. They have good prospects of a steamer being put on the Saskatchewan next season to ply between their settlement and Strathcona. This will be a great boon to the district enabling settlers to get their produce to market cheaply and quickly and to get supplies in at a moderate cost.
